HOT TIME IN GRACEY

AT COLORED BARBECUE

Broken Up By Pistol Duel Between Women In A Crowded Room
And Many Shot And Injured In The Stampede.

The colored population had a barbecue in a factory near the I. C.
depot at Gracey Saturday night, that broke up in a stampede caused by two women shooting at each other and in the fusillade five or six persons were shot and wounded and many others injured.

Near the rear door of the factory is a large sinkhole ten feet in depth and fifteen feet across. The house was full and as the crowd stampeded many fell headlong into the gaping mouth of the sinkhole and others were crowded upon them until the hole was filled to the top and the last to come out ran over the bodies of the wriggling mass of screaming humanity, to places of safety.
Many leaped from the windows and one window became choked with several boys trying to get out at once and into this mass a heavy negro named Pink Dabney, plunged, knocking the boys far outside, except one whose clothing caught on a nail until he was torn loose by Dabney's jumping on him as he hung suspended under the window. Inside many who could not get out threw themselves flat on the floor until the pistols were emptied.

As near as it can be learned the trouble started when Frank Gardner's wife caught Frank talking to Minnie Morris and before the men could prevent it, the two women were shooting at each other, and Gardner's wife is said to have taken one shot at him. Although firing at close range, neither of the combatants was injured, the bullets all hitting those not participating.

Following is a list of those worst hurt:

Annie May Parrish, aged 15, shot in the hip.

John Whitlock, boy, shot in the leg.

Archie Gaither, shot in both legs.

Porter Smoot, shot in the arm.

Joe Sharp, slight flesh wound.

Frank Hawkins, boy, grazed by bullet on ankle.

Ada Green, arm and collar-bone broken by fall in the sinkhole.

Another woman name not learned,
back hurt in falling into the sink-hole.

It took some time after the fight was over to extricate the fifteen or twenty persons from the hole and many of them lost articles of clothing in the struggle to get out. The ground around the hole was trampled like a herd of buffaloes had passed over it and hats, ribbons, neckties, collars and bits of clothing were scattered around the hole, inside and outside. None of the wounded will die from the injuries.

The Green woman is more seriously injured than any of the others. She has been brought to this city to receive surgical attention.

Marshal Herman Cox on Sunday arrested Frank Gardner and his wife's brother, named Muncey, but the latter claims that the only part he took was to try to stop his sister from shooting.

House Party.

A very pleasant house party of ten days, given by Miss Grace Sallee at her country home near Julian, Ky., has just closed. The house-guests were Misses Martha Radford of Howell, Ky.; Bertha Sprouse, Springfield, Tenn.; Alice Jackson,
Fredonia, Ky.; Messers Thomas
Wadlington of Cadiz, Ky.; Miles Cooper of Bennettsville, Ky.; Randolph Dade and Frank Gary of near Hopkinsville.

Miss Sallee's host of friends daily joining the guests in a round of good times made their stay pass only too quickly.

Native Of Christian.

Edward A. Higginbotham, who was born in Christian County, Ky., Dec. 24, 1861, died in Taylorsville,
Ill., a few days ago, after an illness of four years, of partial paralysis.
Both of his parents died before he was 12 years old and he began making his own living as a farm hand when 16 years old. He leaves a considerable estate and $7000 insurance to his family, consisting of a wife and seven children.

Might Be Dead Today.

Granden City, Kan.—In a letter from Mrs. James Hamner, of this city, she says, "I firmly believe that I would not be alive today, if it were not for Cardui. I had been a sufferer from womanly troubles all my life, until I found that great remedy. I feel that I can't praise it too highly." Are you a woman, suffering from some of the troubles, to which a woman is peculiarly liable? If so, why not try Cardui, the woman's tonic? You can rely on Cardui. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and acts gently but surely, without bad after-effects. 'Twill help you. Ask your druggist.

JIM BRADLEY DIES IN CELL

Asked To Be Allowed To Lie Down Awhile.

WHEN CALLED WAS DEAD.

Was A Well Kown Butcher In Various Local Shops.

Jim Bradley, a well known butcher in local meat shops, died yesterday morning in the city jail. He came in the office about 7:30 a. m., and told Chief Roper that he was feeling bad, and wanted to lie down for a few minutes. The chief allowed him to go back to one of the cells and lay down on a cot. About 10:15 the chief carried an offender back to lock him up and wishing the cell Bradley was in went in to arouse him. He found him covered up in the blanket, dead. The prisoner in the next cell said that about 9:30 he had heard him groan two or three times, and complain about his stomach cramping. He said that was the last heard from him.

Dr. J. W. Harned was summoned immediately, and gave the opinion that heart trouble was the cause.
The coronor corroborated the verdict. There was no signs of inebri-acy.

A search of his pockets revealed nothing of importance. The deceased was about 45 years of age.
His father is Kirk Bradley and lives in Todd county. He leaves no family or property. He carried a small amount of life insurance.

Harry and Karl Keach have returned from a trip to Owensboro in their auto. Their pedometer showed 460 miles of travel.

Miss Mamie Lee, of Elkton, is visiting Miss Parrent.

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $30,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector, J. Pierpont Morgan tried to secure the collection—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs.
It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—for the camera cannot lie. It tells the story of the War you never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and record strange things.

CHAMPION HARD LUCK YARN

Tout Who Was Following Ponies Has Tough Experience With Stingy Horseman.

In the days when the race tracks were doing a big business the so-called race track touts were always in evidence at every meeting and the hard luck stories these fellows could tell were never excelled by any other single class of individuals. One of the best of these stories concerns a tout who was following the ponies and who reached an eastern city when a race meeting was about to open. The tout was broke and, accosting a rather stingy horseman of his acquaintance, told him of his predicament. "Why, I haven't had a thing to eat in two days," said the tout. "Well," said the horseman, "step in here to this restaurant and I'll buy you something." With visions of a big meal the poor tout followed the stingy horseman into the restaurant. "Give this party a glass of milk and a piece of custard pie," said the horseman to one of the waiters. "Gee," said the tout, "I thought I was going to get some meat." "Change that order from custard pie to mince pie," said the horseman as he left a dime on the counter and went out.

CANADA NEVER HAD LYNCHING

Respect for Law Instilled Through Centuries of British Rule Is the Reason.

"When a Canadian visits the United States and reads in your papers of the outrageous lynchings that frequently occur in the south, it surprises and shocks him," said Andrew Shearer, a solicitor of Montreal, at the Raleigh. "Such a thing as a lynching was never known in Canada, though, I suppose, that occasionally crimes are committed that arouse the people to an intense state of horror and indignation.

"Such is the respect for the law, however, instilled in the people through centuries of British rule, that no one would think of raising a hand against an officer of the law. I have seen crowds around a prisoner guilty of committing murder or other crime that arouses the wrath of the people, but there never is an attempt to injure him. The law must take its course, and the people never interfere. It is astonishing to Canadians, therefore, to read of the lawlessness that exists in some parts of the United States."—Washington Post.

LIGHT AS BARRIER TO EELS.

The Danish government has begun an interesting effort to aid the fishermen of the Baltic by preventing the migration of eels from that sea into the ocean. The means employed is a "barrier of light," formed by placing fifty electric lamps along a submerged cable between the island of Fano and the coast of Funen. The effectiveness of such a barrier depends upon the fact that the eels migrate only during the dark hours. Accordingly, as soon as darkness begins, in the season of migration, the lamps are illuminated, and thus a wall of light is interposed from which the eels recoil. A similar principle is said to have been employed from time immemorial by fishermen on certain parts of the coast of Italy.

FOR CONSCIENCE SAKE.

Collector Loeb of the New York custom house received a two-dollar bill inclosed in the following letter signed D. C. and dated Evanston, Ill.:

"Some time ago I past tru your custom house on my way from Europe and had in my trunk a article that I have to pay duty for but did not at that time now I feel I must and will pay it for conscience sak I am a christian man and enclose 2 dollars the article was worth about 3 dollars the article was cloth to an overcoat will you forgive me for not doing it in right time Hope you will received it."

ANALOGY.

"If nature had intended man to fly," said the positive person, "she would have given him wings." "I suppose, then," replied the aviator, "that if man were intended to travel by water he would be web-footed."

THE EXCEPTION.

"The big peaches are always on top."

"Not always. I know a little peach who leads everything in this town."

TROUT FISHING AT NIGHT

Full Instructions Are Given by the Greatest of All Anglers, Izaak Walton.

You are to know there is night as well as day fishing for a trout; and that in the night the best trouts come out of their holds. And the manner of taking them is on the top of the water with a great lob or garden worm, or rather two, which you are to fish with in a stream where the waters run somewhat quietly, for in a stream the bait will not be so well discerned. I say in a quiet or dead place, near to some swift, there draw your bait over the top of the water, to and fro, and if there be a good trout in the hole, he will take it, especially if the night be dark, for then he is bold, and lies near the top of the water, watching the motion of any frog or water rat, or mouse, that swims betwixt him and the sky; these he hunts after if he sees the water but wrinkle or move in one of these dead holes, where these great old trouts usually lie, near to their holds; for you are to note that the great old trout is both subtle and fearful, and lies close all day, and does not usually stir out of his hold, but lies in it as close in the day as the timorous hare does in her form; for the chief feeding of either is seldom in the day, but usually in the night, and then the great trout feeds very boldly.—Walton's Compleat Angler.

The English Weather Man.
The weather forecast for today is: Fair or fine, with some hail or snow showers; moderating northerly winds; veering northeasterly; cold, sharp night; frost inland.—London Express.

LITTLE THINGS.

"I never," he said, "permit myself to be disturbed over trifles. There are so many big things to engage one's attention that I consider it foolish to let the little ones bother me. Think how many people permit themselves to go all to pieces every time any little thing happens to fall in their way. They are the ones who make the world a dismal place. If every one would learn to pass over the little troubles—to ignore them—how much more good cheer there would be. It is a sign of a small nature to let a little thing distress one to—wow! Oh, Lord! Oh! Oh! Blank, blank, blank! I've got a speck in my eye! Oh, Lord! It's killing me!"

WAS FIRST ANTI-TRUST LAW

Edict issued in Year 483 by Emperor Zeno Prohibited Monopoly in Necessaries.

In the year 483 the Emperor Zeno issued an edict beginning with this declaration:

"We command that no one may presume to exercise a monopoly of any kind of cloth, or of fish, or of any other thing serving for food or for any other use, whatever its nature may be, either of his own authority, or under a rescript of an emperor already procured, or that may hereafter be procured . . . nor may any person combine or agree, in unlawful meetings, that different kinds of merchandise may not be sold at a less price than they may have agreed among themselves."

This is the earliest anti-trust act that Mr. Hannis Taylor reports in his recent imposing volume on "The Origin and Growth of the American Constitution." But everybody knows that the evil which it was directed against was ancient before Zeno's time. The earliest recorded instance of monopoly was when Joseph, as prime minister of Egypt, stored up grain in expectation of the seven lean years.

"And the famine was over all the face of the earth; and Joseph opened all the storehouses and sold unto the Egyptians; and the famine waxed sore in the land of Egypt."

NAVAL OFFICER'S BRAVE DEED

Throws Five Cartridges Into Sea and Prevents Disaster on British Warship.

The bravest thing I ever saw occurred on H. M. S. Magnificent in Tetuan bay in the year 1905. We were engaged in the usual quarterly firing, and the gunlayers' competition was in progress, states a writer in M. A. P. The six-inch guns' crew were going strongly when what was supposed to be a miss-fire took place. After an interval the breach was opened and a fearful explosion occurred, resulting in the death of six of the guns' crew and severe burns to several others. What was thought to be a miss-fire had proved to be a slow cartridge.

While the casemate was still full of the fumes an officer, at the greatest risk to himself, entered and with bare hands threw two live cartridges through the port into the sea, and thereby averted what might easily have proved to be a worse accident than the first, as by this time a great number of the ship's company had gathered round the scene of the explosion.

CHINAMAN IN NEW ZEALAND.

A few weeks ago the Chinese of New Zealand were found to be doing a very great deal of the laundry work available, and had so thrown out of employment the women workers in some of the laundries. In New Zealand a laundry is a factory within the meaning of the factories act, so it occurred to a lawmaker that he could settle the difficulty of this Chinese competition by a neat amendment in the interpretation clause of the act above mentioned. An amendment was therefore drafted and printed and sent with the utmost seriousness and good faith to the crown law office for consideration; it contained a provision in these words "For the purposes of this act (the factories act), a Chinaman shall be deemed to be a girl under eighteen years of age."—M. A. P.

POSTAGE ANNIVERSARY.

An interesting event has just been celebrated in London—namely, the seventieth anniversary of the day when the world's first adhesive postage stamp was used. It was in 1841 that Sir Rowland Hill's great system of postal reform came into force and made possible the use of the adhesive postage stamp. The first adhesive postage stamp struck was what is known as the penny black, bearing the head of Queen Victoria. Unused specimens of this stamp are now worth $5 upward.

INTRODUCTION ANNOYED HER

Haughty Little Miss Shows Her Resentment When Presented to a Terrier.

There is a little East End girl, still under six, who reaches the limit in the matter of sensitiveness. Likewise, she has her points in respect to dead-gameness. She was taken out to Lakewood about a week ago to spend a few days with her aunt. The little Miss played around in front of her aunt's place for awhile. Then her aunt let a playful young terrier into the yard, saying to the child:

"This is your little four-footed cousin."

Five minutes later the aunt returned to the front yard to call the kid into the house, but she wasn't anywhere to be seen. The fox terrier was playing alone. There was a scrambling hunt for the child, and all kinds of alarm, but the little girl didn't turn up. The aunt hustled to town. The little girl was home with her mother.

She had walked right to the car for town as soon as the fox terrier pup was presented to her.

"Why didn't you stay at aunt's?" her mother asked her in surprise.

"She introduced me to a dog!" replied the haughty little person.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

My health became greatly run down and I had but little ambition to perform housework. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply and the results of their use were all that I could have wished for. Before I finished the contents of the first box, I noticed a decided change for the better and the use of two boxes made me feel like a different woman."

THERE IS NO NATURAL DEATH

Changes of Senility Are Result of External Accidents, of Poisons and Diseases.

Dr. Chalmers Mitchell, secretary of the Zoological Society of London, in a lecture on "Problems of Animals in Captivity," at the Royal institution, said:

"It is extremely doubtful if a really natural death ever does occur in any kind of animal, including man."

Dr. Mitchell supported Metchnikoff's theory that the changes of senility are the result of external accidents, of the poisons of various diseases or of unsanitary conditions. If all these causes were removed most animals, including men, would live to a far greater age than they do now. To an animal living in a perfectly hygienic world, sheltered from all diseases, death would eventually come as the result of the slow accumulation of waste matters of all kinds in the tissues.

According to Dr. Mitchell the potential age of man should certainly be placed at well over 100, and it is noticeable that centenarians are nowadays quite frequently heard of. The number of potential centenarians among animals is comparatively small. Among mammals we have only man, whales and elephants, and among birds eagles and parrots.

There is no relation between size and potential longevity. A canary lives almost as long as the ostrich, while a parrot lives longer than an ostrich.

Among reptiles there are well established cases of turtles and tortoises living to 150 and 100 years.

Comfort for the Tramp.

SOUND LIKE COLLEGE YELLS

Names of Law Firms That Seem to Lack Only the "Tiger" on the End.

Law firms have a particular fondness for stringing out the names of their members to the third, fourth and even the fifth degree, says the New York Press. The result is often not only tongue twisting, but highly suggestive of the "rah! rah!" enthusiasm of undergraduates. What could make a better college yell, for instance, than "Betts, Bells, Sheffield & Betts," which only recently became "Betts, Sheffield, Bentley & Betts?" Judge Lovett, president of the Union Pacific railroad, is a member of the firm of Baker, Botts, Baker & Lovett. In the Mills building are Tomlinson, Tompkins & Tomlinson. This is not only mellifluous, but might easily be set to music and make a lovely refrain for a popular song. Then there is the De Witt firm. De Witt, Lockwood & De Witt have been in Nassau street, in the same suite of offices, since the days when Aaron Burr had his office in the same block. "Fish, Richardson, Herrick & Neave," with a "tigerrrr" or two on the end would be inspiring at any football game.

ARE LIKE SWIMMING GHOSTS

Silvery Fish in the Water Appear Gray and Unsubstantial to Their Fellows.

Lecturing before the Camera club at London, England, Dr. Francis Ward said that, in an attempt to photograph fish in their natural surroundings he had constructed a pond with an observation chamber let in at the side, below the surface of the water. Through the window of this chamber unseen by the fish he could watch and photograph their movements. He discovered by this means that the protection of fish when in their natural state is much more thorough than is generally supposed.

All silvery fish were in reality mirrors in the water, reflecting the tone and color of their surroundings so as to appear to their fellow fish gray, unsubstantial, swimming ghosts, hardly to be distinguished at all. It was only when the dace, for example, rose to the surface, causing its body to reflect light, that the pike at the bottom of the pond could see and go for its little victim.

INSULT TO INJURY.

This is a story of the Harvard "Gold Coast." Some students who had either a real or imaginary grievance against a taxicab chauffeur, boarded his cab and rode all evening and part of the morning, winding up in front of the halls. They excused themselves to raise money enough to pay the bill and never came back. The next day the taxicab company was called up and the manager asked: "Did you have some Harvard students use a cab all night?" "Yes." "Did they evade the bill?" "Yes?" "Did the chauffeur wait for four hours for them to come out and pay him?" "Yes." "And you were never paid?" "No." "Well," concluded the voice, "isn't that too bad," and the receiver was hung up.

Might Live Forever.

Taking Up Henry Ward Beecher's declaration that "Yellow fever is God Almighty's opinion of dirt," a writer says nobody would die if he could keep perfectly clean.

Tragic Dream Came True.

To dream of being mangled by a locomotive and to have that dream come true shortly after he had related it to his companions was the experience of Wilmer Johnson, of Phoenixville, Pa. While off his engine it began to move, and the enactment of the dream came true, as he jumped for the running board, but missed it and fell under the wheels.

DOGS CANNOT RESIST ARMY

Many a Respectable Country Canine Has Left Home of East to Join the Soldiers.

Any one who has his eyes about him and who visits Camp J. A. T. Hull will notice nearly as many dogs as men in the big military reserve. There is not a company or troop but what has a dog attached to it, and not a few companies and troops have two and three dogs, says the Des Moines Register and Leader.

A dog led the charge across the imaginary river, a dog led the review of the troops which should properly have been headed by General Smith and a dog stood by the general when the troops passed him and dipped their colors as they passed.

"Where did we get him?" said a trooper, referring to a dog which looked like all the rest of the dogs and which had just succeeded in capturing a horse that had thrown his rider and successfully evaded all attempts by men to capture him. "Where did we get him?" Lord, sir, we just picked him up. It's easier for a boy to resist a circus than it is for a dog to resist the army. Many a respectable country dog has left his life of ease to join the army. We like 'em and we give 'em a good home, and they just stick. No disrespect, sir, but our troop could get along better without its commander than it could without the troop dog."

"And it's true," said Lieutenant Colonel Daniel McCarthy, "a military camp without dogs is like a home without children."

OF COURSE NOT.

PROSPERITY IN STAGE.

Strange things are happening in Skye. This time it is not a crofters' revolt, but an industrial boom. What with the discovery of iron ore in Raasay and a seemingly inexhaustible supply of fine marble among the hills near Broadford, the island looks as if it were on the threshold of prosperous times. A few days ago the last of the extensive plant in connection with the marble quarries at Bradford was laid at a cost roughly estimated at 40,000 pounds. The quarries are located in the heart of the Skye mountains, and near the base of the famous Ben-na-Cailleach, upon whose herbless peak there is a lone grave, in which there has rested for twenty centuries the ashes of a Norwegian princess. The first railway in the island has been constructed by the Marble company.—London Mail.

CONTINENTAL ETIQUETTE.

The wives of French cabinet ministers share to some extent their husbands' dignities, the deference due to them being expounded in the Protocol. Should a minister's wife enter a drawing room where any deputies or senators' wives are present these are supposed to rise and remain standing until the new arrival is seated. Ministers' wives have to show a like homage to the wife of the prime minister. And Mme. Caillaux herself is supposed to rise in honor of the wife of the president of the chamber of deputies, for with her, according to the Protocol, "c'est la Représentation Nationale qui entre, le suffrage universel la France."

HER STAND.

Mrs. Henpeck—Look at me! I don't want to handle a vote.

Mr. Henpeck (sadly)—No; you would rather manhandle a voter.

MUST WALK WHILE HE TALKS

Senator Martine of New Jersey Says
His Tongue and Legs Move
at Same Time.

Senator Martine of New Jersey, says the Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser, walks as he orates. Usually a senator addressing the senate or in interrupting a senator stands by a seat at best, moving but little from it in the excitement of his inspiration. But Martine cannot maintain himself thus. He must walk rapidly and for some distance as he talks, much after the manner when he used to "cradle" his New Jersey farm, as he says. So Martine is a circus to see as well as to listen to when he feels he must enlighten some senator who professes to know more about farming than he.

And he accepts the fun with good grace.

"Why do you walk so?" Senator Bailey asked him.

"I cannot help it," replied Martine. "My tongue and legs move at the same time. Some reflex action somewhere. I have been reproved for this on the stump by an Irishman. Finding me at it as I am he shouted:

"Say, are you walking or are you talking? If you are walking, then walk; if you are talking, then talk. We can't hear you when you walk and we cannot see you when you talk. Quit one or both."

"But here I am. I have never been cured."

DIDN'T UNDERTAND.

Robson—I understand that you have a great deal of fret work in your home.

Snobson—I don't see the necessity for drawing my wife into the conversation.

PROTECT THE SPINAL CORD.

Persons who seem to be predisposed to be affected by the heat should avoid exposing themselves as much as possible. They should dress lightly, should drink plenty of water, should avoid indulgence in alcoholic drinks, should keep their heads as cool as possible; and some recommend that the back should be protected by sewing an extra piece of flannel into the inside of the shirt so that it may protect the spinal cord. These precautions may wisely be observed by everyone in hot weather and especially when an excess of humidity in the atmosphere diminishes the perspiration of those who are working or are exposed to very hot air.—From the Journal of the American Medical Association.

FLY PEST IN EGYPT.

A plague of sand flies suddenly invaded Cairo, Egypt, a few days ago. Myriads of these venomous little insects appeared and swarmed over everything. It was with the greatest difficulty that many people got free of them, and if the plague had not been so aggressively unpleasant it would have been amusing to watch the frantic efforts made by every one to drive the flies away. Many natives flung their galabehs over their faces, and, in spite of the intense heat, ran for their lives for shelter. The less fortunate Europeans had to do their best with handkerchiefs and newspapers until they found a shop or house in which to take refuge.

PROOF OF IT.

Mrs. Dresser—But, George, you surely don't consider yourself a financier?

Mr. Dresser—Certainly, I do. How do you suppose I've kept from paying your milliner's bill for so long if I'm not a financier?—Catholic Standard and Times.

KEEP MUSIC IN THE SOUL

Will Change Dragging Footsteps to Tripping Feet and Pave Life's Way With Sunshine.

Within a weather beaten church, with ivy overgrown entrance, I sat and listened to the organ's swelling tone. It filled the place from wall to wall and hovered overhead; it crept within the silent crypt that held the honored dead. Again it sang of faith and hope, the guiding stars of men. My heart was full, I could not speak, then came the grand "Amen." If we could keep within our thought the sound of music sweet, our lagging, dragging footsteps would change to tripping feet. Life's way would be all sunshine and clouds would disappear, and heaven's portals, now so dim, would shine out bold and clear. Bowed heads would then be lifted up, for hope would have full sway; the hours pass in sweet content; our trials flee away. The sands of time would turn again and banish all the years between the port of Boyland and the harbor out our fears. And time would rest as lightly as when, neither man nor boy, we listened to sweet lullabys that filled our hearts with joy. 'Twould banish hate and strife, and ever present greed, and soften up the hearts of men who on their brothers feed. And where's the man could strike a blow if coursing through his brain were notes of grand old anthems or love songs' sweet refrain.—By J. E. Sykes.

MAKING OF MODERN MAPS

Has Been Astonishingly Difficult to Make Progress in Charts Until Recent Times.

It would seem as if maps and charts would be an easy task. A stranger on an unknown coast, in an unknown land, an unknown city, knows more about it if he has a good chart or map than the native. Roaming and navigating savages who really need maps are very skillful in drawing them. Sir Edward Parry discovered Hecla strait from the map drawn offhand for him by an Eskimo woman; but the higher the civilization of the map-maker, the more in the past he substituted imagination and arts for fact. There are Egyptian maps dating from 1400 B. C., but in spite of this long history it has been astonishingly difficult to make progress in charts until very recent times. Errors are perpetuated, truth is forgotten, advance is slow. As late as 1900 charts of the Alaskan coast issued by the United States were said to be thirty miles wrong. As for railroad maps, the less said the better.—Engineering Magazine.

MEASURING RAINDROPS.

Mr. Spencer C. Russell at a meeting of the London Royal Meteorological society described how he obtained records of the actual size of raindrops. He said the experiments head left him to conclude that the most satisfactory results were given by the use of plaster of paris or fine flour placed in three-inch shallow trays to a depth of one and one-half inches. Raindrops during six thunderstorms had been registered, yielding a total of 164 drops, divided up into the following sizes: Twenty-five of 5 millimeters, 40 of 4 millimeters, 48 of 3 millimeters, 35 of 2 millimeters and 15 of 1 millimeter. The largest drops occurred at the commencement of the storm, grading off as the storm progressed. Before a fall of hail a marked increase in drop size was apparent.

PLEASURE REFRAINED FROM.

Potts—Much nicer to own your own home and pay no rent, isn't it?"
Lotts—In a general way, but it has its disadvantages. A fellow can't go around driving nails anywhere he pleases in the woodwork of his own home, you know."

A SURE SIGN.

"That party yonder are going on a mad carouse."
"Yes, already the champagne bottles are foaming at the mouth."

THE REAL VICTIM.

"Your wife is suffering from catarrhes loquendi, isn't she?"
"Nothing the matter with my wife, except she talks too much."

NO VARIETY.

"Matilda, why are you letting the baby cry that way?"
"Lor, John, the child don't know any other way of crying."

The last game of the Vincennes series was lost by the Moguls by a series of mishaps and a run of bad luck. In the first inning Huhn split his finger, reopening an old wound, and had to be replaced by Smith as catcher.

McArthur was very wild in the beginning and allowed 5 runs to be made, but soon settled down and the Moguls were in a fair way to win when a more serious accident happened. While Kesling was sliding to second base in the sixth inning, his right foot hit the bag with such force that the leg was broken above the ankle, one bone being broken. He was taken from the game and Johnson sent to right field and Lyons transferred to center.

The game went fairly well in spite of the accidents until the eighth inning when McArthur lost control again and six hits were made in rapid succession increasing the Vincennes runs to 10. The Moguls made one more in the ninth but were still short 8 to 10. To make matters worse Beasley knocked off a fingernail while warming up and worked Sunday with a very sore finger.

The team went to Dawson Sunday on a transfer losing money by small attendance and getting a defeat through the fatal error of Wilson, who threw the ball away at a critical time.

Yesterday the second game was in progress with Paducah on the local grounds, when the Kentuckian went to press.

Kesling's Accident.

The accident to Clyde Kesling, the star center fielder, is very depressing to the team and is universally regretted. Kesling was one of the best fielders in the league. He played every game in the first half, batting 282 and was keeping up his good work this time. Personally he is a moral, gentlemanly and well disciplined player, who never loses his head. His home is at Logansport, Ind. His leg was attended to by Dr. Perkins and he is now at his room in the Hille flat. The fans passed the hat and raised $60 for him as he was being taken from the park in an auto.

Batting Averages.

President C. C. Gosnell has sent out the official league averages for the first half of the season.

The first ten are: Mayer, Fulton, 435, in 11 games; Hart, Fulton, 432 in 11 games; Langdon, Fulton-Clarksville, 358; Glenn, Vincennes 356; Gust, Harrisburg 354; Ashby, Harrisburg 10 games, 353; Curtis, Clarksville 348; Stelle, Henderson, 344; Campbell, Vincennes, 344; Huhn, Hopkinsville, 340.

A Chance Yet.

The statehood situation was some what cleared Thursday when the Senate and House conferees reached an agreement to eliminate the judicial recall feature from the Arizona Constitution and to provide for making the New Mexico Constitution easier to be amended.

Purely Personal

Rev. Charles Morris, of Jonesboro, Ark., who has been spending his vacation at Dawson, spent Sunday in the city. In the early eighties Mr. Morris was for several years rector of Grace Episcopal church, but since leaving here he has identified himself with the Presbyterian church and has been pastor of the church of that denomination at Jonesboro for the last four years. Mr. Morris has many friends here who were glad to meet him again after an absence of more than twenty years.

Mrs. Fannie Keen Roach, of Evansville, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hanbery of Cadiz, spent Sunday and Monday in the city.

Mrs. J. O. Cook's class of 16 young ladies, the "Loyal Daughters," from the Christian Sunday School, went with Mrs. Cook to Cerulean Springs Saturday and returned Sunday evening. The outing was greatly enjoyed by the whole class.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Thomas have returned from a visit to Cadiz.

Woman's Influence.

For a woman to be wise and at the same time womanly is to wield a tremendous influence which may be felt for good in the lives of generations to come.—David Starr Jordan.

THE MAGAZINES

The American Magazine announces that it is to begin immediate publication of the Autobiography of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. The September number contains an article introductory to the series. La Follette is described as one of the greatest fighting liberals of this generation, a man who has had a world of adventures and met all the most important men of our time. These adventures he will report and these men he will characterize.

The September American contains fiction by W. J. Locke, James Oppenheim, James Hopper, Wells Hastings, Inez Haynes Gillmore.

Clarence Darrow, the champion of organized labor in the courts, writes on "Why men Fight for the Closed Shop," an authoritative statement of the labor unions' position.

"Storming the Citadel," by William Allen White, is a stirring history of La Follette and the Insurgents, a description of the changes accomplished in the Senate, and a prophecy of what the Insurgents will do.

Grantland Rice, the football and baseball writer, an authority on Sports, and master of a lively pen, contributes "Nerve and the game" in which he tells the secret of the "come-backs" and "break-downs" of great athletes.

Walter Richard Eaton, in "The New Ethel Barrymore" tells the vivid story of the growth of a minor star into one of the best of American actresses.

Anybody Can Clean Silver This Way

I'm sure—says the LITTLE HOUSEWIFE. There's no "fussing" with dirty, mussy, injurious "pastes" or powders, no rubbing or "real work" of any kind. It's so much quicker, better and more satisfactory, in every way, than any other Method that you'll really enjoy using the

This truly wonderful little home labor-saving device is very simple, yet extremely durable in construction. It quickly and thoroughly cleans any silverware of black and tarnish—without defacing, marring or scratching, or removing one particle of silver—and leaves it bright and new.

The SILVER-CLEAN PAN is a scientific combination of electro-chemical metals. Hot water, with ordinary baking soda and salt, is placed in the PAN—and the silver merely immersed and left for a few minutes—then taken out and wiped dry, when every trace of tarnish will have been removed—WITHOUT RUBBING OR SCOURING.

Thousands of housewives use the SILVER-CLEAN PAN—and what once was a dreaded task is now a pleasure. Hotels, clubs, restaurants and dining cars also employ the PAN. The household size, No. 1, single, (with full, simple directions). Shipped on free trial, express prepaid, for only $1.25. If not found entirely satisfactory, we will pay return charges and refund the purchase price. Beware of imitations. None genuine without grid; see arrow. Slabs and other forms injure silverware. The "Silver-Clean" does not.
